Madhubani art, originating from the Mithila region of Bihar, is a spiritual expression of devotion, nature, and the sacred narratives of ancient Hindu epics such as the Ramayana. It serves as a meditative prayer, with motifs like the lotus for purity, peacocks for divine love, turtles for cosmic balance, fish for fertility and abundance, and elephants for wisdom and prosperity, reflecting deep cultural reverence for spiritual insight and timeless wisdom.

Kamla Ravikumar is qualified in Art and Interior design. At her studio located in Chennai's Kalakshetra colony, she teaches Art and Indian folk arts to local residents and expatriates too. She mentors 12 th grade students for competitive art entrance exams. Her latest collection of works include paintings and bronze sculptures on the theme of Yoga.

No painting or drawing skills required.
Art material will be provided.
